ILLUSORY LIFE

a visual dance creating reality in color, form, and texture

but an eye can play tricks on its owner

as can all the senses

so what is real and what is not

it's important to keep asking questions

POSSIBILITIES

ponder this and that wonder what can and what can't take off the limits, go explore
find freedom in knowing there's always more
endless options lead the way
beautiful possibilities every day

FOUND

release and expand a different kind of living where peace can be found

I WILL CHOOSE LIFE

Introspective

 $\boldsymbol{W} \text{ondering}$  and inquisitive

I seek

Living out

Loving out

Curious and questioning

Honestly

Openly

Oh, the life

Seeking truth

Every day choices

Luring me

Inside I know

Follow the light

Engage life abundantly

THINK

To have more questions than answers, shows a strong mind; thinking for oneself.

UNCOVER

Displacing shadows from what I perceived to be; uncovering light.

QUANDARY

The more I'm aware, the more I know I am not; that's the quandary.

GROWTH

Life's tensions create opportunity for growth to stretch and strengthen.

MY ONLY QUESTION

life is a collection of moments whatever they may be the choice is mine to determine what it is I see

there will always be peaks and valleys there will be both sun and rain how I choose to look at it will determine my joy or pain

nothing set before me
is written in concrete or stone
I am the author of my story
my destiny is my own

I can play a victim
or I can overcome
how I respond to what's before me
is determined by only one

there is no right or wrong there is no pass or fail when I breathe my last breath my only question will be...

did I live heaven or did I live hell

BOLDLY

To experience life in its extravagance one must live boldly.

IN JOY

I find myself to be more in joy when I am in the moment than when I am in my head.

LIFE

Life is cyclical from this dimension to the next, never-ending.

TIME

time is but a phantom
a man-made construct
a dictator to our wheres and whens

running our life taking our hands guiding where schedules won't end

the sun will rise
the sun will set
but time does not exist

all that once was all that there is remains a constant mist

our bodies will come our bodies will go but even they won't resist

time is but a phantom an inevitable construct

that we create to generate a life

that makes sense to us

WHERE DO YOU LIVE

Some

live in the future.

Some

live in the past.

Some

live in the here and now.

The latter

is where life exists.

KEEP SHINING

Like the moon and the stars that help us see one foot in front of the other so our light within helps light the world around.

No matter how dark keep shining my friend for every bit of light helps purge the darkness from our world.

I HYPOTHESIZE

Please
don't hold me
to account tomorrow
for what I say today.
I am growing and evolving
in a fascinating way.

Just when I think I have some answers
I counter my own points of view
which leads me to new thinking
I choose to hold on to.

It's a never-ending cycle, a spider-webbed thought process; all this unraveling of what I say, leads to new insights I do confess.

This pushing and this pulling of my original thought it's a swirling in my brain as I consider what is and what is not.

Sometimes it makes sense sometimes it's a bust so please don't hold my ideas against me for that would be unjust.

I am growing and evolving in a wondrous way.
for transformation is my journey as I seek The Way.

ASKING -

CLOSING WORDS

Narrow is the path for those who question

Less traveled is the path with the roughest terrain

The most rewarding path has the most glorious perspective

And it awaits those who are brave

ANGEL K WILL

is a wanderlust explorer who enjoys expressing herself through the creative works of writing, photography, and design.

Her philosophy for experiencing the most out of life...

to ponder, to reflect, to question
to push and pull, to ebb and flow
to think outside, inside and around the box
to live unlimited, to just be an abstract life beckons me

CONSIDER CLOSELY

What you first believe may or may not be. What you first perceive may actually deceive.

On the cover of this book, is the owl in the concrete tree?

Asking questions leads to discovery, and discovery leads to more questions.

It all creates new perceptions.

So consider closely, and enjoy this journey of life.
